

R	E	N	A	L
Go to a medical student or resident poster.	"precision medicine" (only counts if it is used unironically)	Moderator mispronounces a speaker's name	Have Scriber Award Winner, Ray Hakim, explain the next major dialysis breakthrough	Find a patient (besides Kevin Fowler) at Kidney Week
Join the NephJC Poster Tour 10 AM Thursday or Friday	Get beignets and coffee at Cafe Du Monde	Go to the Communities Lounge and ask "What happened to the ASN CyberCenter?"	Ask Young Investigator Award winner, Chirag Parikh, if he wants to go for a run	Someone tweets "#KidneyWk is trending!"
Tweet @satellitehealth with your best #KidneyWk photo	"I know this is a busy slide but..."	Tweet @NephJC and suggest a journal article for discussion	Beat John P Peters Award winner, Ron Falk, at Foosball	Use of the font Comic Sans on a slide (Full credit for Papyrus)
Attend a session with at least two female speakers (moderators don't count)	Go to the TweetUp at Deanie's Seafood Friday, Nov 03 from 6:30-9:30 pm	Tell Goldfarb that you tried FB-4040 at one of the hurricane stands on Bourbon Street	Ask Martin R. Pollack which one: Homer Smith, Homer Simpson or the blind Homer	Congratulate president elect Mark Okusa. Tell him he has half the followers of E. Lederer
Make it through an entire day entirely on free food	Tell Susan Wall who the best plenary speaker is	Someone drops a long winded talk disguised as a question	Take a selfie with, Robert G. Narins award winner @Kidney_Boy	Get on the electronic ASN Tweet board (pics or it didn't happen)

Welcome to NephJC's #KidneyWkBingo. So much of what happens at these big medical meetings is stereotypical, but now you can do more than just roll your eyes. Record the event on your own bingo board. Shout out each space with a tweet, hashtag #KidneyWkBingo. No prizes are on the line and fame is unlikely, but come on, who doesn't want to make rubbing elbows with the ASN elite a competitive sport.

Do you find the poster tour a bit overwhelming? Leave the driving to NephJC. On Thursday and Friday at 10:00 meet the leaders of NephJC at the Satellite health table for a guided tour of their favorite posters.

Then on Friday night from 6:30 to 9:30 join us for a NephJC party at Deanie's Seafood. Located at 841 Iberville Street. It is going to be a great night of drinks, appetizers and nephrology nerdery. We also will use that evening to award the NephJC Kidney Awards.

This is Satellite Healthcare's ASN Friday Fun Party. This is also the party formerly known as Blogger Night and The NephJC Tweet up. Go to the Satellite table in the Vendor area to pick up your entirely unnecessary tickets or just show up.